

Access to Unlicensed Medicines; Right Medicine, Right Patient, Right Time

Thursday 23rd March 2017

Théâtre Claude Debussy; 09:00 - 10:30

IDIS

— Global Access

Part of the Clinigen Group

Access to Unlicensed Medicines; Right Medicine, Right Patient, Right Time

Regardless of whether the need for accessing unlicensed medicines is driven by a supply disruption, treatment of a rare disease or other options being unsuitable or simply not working, the role of hospital pharmacists is critical in ensuring patient treatment continues uninterrupted. Sourcing and timely supply of unlicensed medicines is complex and demanding. In this meeting, we will explore this changing landscape and give pointers on how best to respond to these challenges and maintain an optimal service for all stakeholders: patients, physicians and policy-makers.

Come and join our symposium where you will learn from expert insights and opinions on this patient-critical and evolving issue.

- | | |
|----------------------|---|
| 09:00 - 09:10 | Chair's Welcome
Bernard Naughton
Doctoral Researcher, Keele University & University of Oxford
Clinical Pharmacist, Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust |
| 09:10 - 09:30 | A History of Access to Medicines; 30 Years On
Ivo Timmermans
Chief Medical Officer, Clinigen Group |
| 09:30 - 09:50 | Fulfilling Patient Needs; A View From The Sharp End
Bernard Naughton |
| 09:50 - 10:10 | Falsified Medicines;
The Role of the Pharmacist in Raising Patient Awareness
Mike Isles
Executive Director, European Alliance for Access to Safe Medicines |
| 10:10 - 10:25 | Q & A
Panel |
| 10:25 - 10:30 | Chair's Summary
Bernard Naughton |

IDIS

— Global Access

Part of the Clinigen Group

This satellite symposium is organised by Idis Global Access